Housing & Transportation

Housing

On-campus housing is very limited for graduate students at Duke, with priority to first year students coming from outside of the US. More information on the application for this housing is here: <https://studentaffairs.duke.edu/hdrl/graduate-professional-students/graduate-living-campus>

For most of you, the responsibility to secure their own off-campus housing is yours, so here are some resources to help you! We also encourage you to reach out through the MS-GH Facebook group for peer advice as you begin your housing search.

NearDuke

- Operated by the Duke Chronicle, Duke’s student newspaper
- Features houses, rooms, and apartments available for rent

DukeList

- Classifieds list open only to those with a Duke NetID
- Contains resources including housing, roommates, furniture, services, job opportunities, etc.

International House Listserv

- Features campus & transportation maps, house hunting tips, and helpful email listserves
- May prove especially helpful for international students

Please note the information on after-hours vans below – these operate within a certain radius of Duke, which may help you narrow your housing search to locations closer to campus.

Transportation & Getting Around Campus

Parking and Transportation

- Students who drive to campus are eligible for permits based on their program; you can request a permit for a designated Grad Student lot close to DGHI – the default student lot is not closeby.
- Street parking may also be available adjacent to campus, though not guaranteed, and always a short walk away from Trent.

Duke Maps

- A searchable map of campus that includes information on bus routes, parking lots, bike racks, short-term rental cars, and other transportation options.
- Provides detailed information on individual buildings, on-campus dining amenities, and much more.

Duke Transit Buses

- Duke has its own free bus system that will take you all over campus
- Campus routes are available on the website
- Smartphone owners can find bus routes and track arrival times using the Rider app

Duke Vans

- Door-to-door shuttle service open to all Duke University students, faculty, and staff.
- Provides free, on-demand van transportation from dusk to dawn (5:00pm - 6:45am) when/where Duke Transit is not in service
- Please note that Duke Vans does have geographic boundaries limiting how far from campus they can go to pick up or drop off passengers. Please review the Duke Vans site to verify their geographic boundaries.

Campus Life

Activities

International House

- Great orientation and support resources for international students, including conversation groups, shopping trips, and cross-cultural workshops
- Workshops and conversational/language partner opportunities are open to ALL Duke students, regardless of citizenship

Duke Student Affairs and Campus Life

- A wide variety of resources, including the Career Center
- Cultural and/or identity centers and resources
- Graduate and Professional Student Community links

The Bryan Center

- Serves as the home to many student-oriented offices, meeting spaces, restaurants, and more.

Sarah P. Duke Gardens

- 55 acre collection of gardens including more than five miles of pathways through unique gardens and surroundings
- Very close to Trent Hall for walks and outdoor study spots

Duke Performances —students receive free or reduced tickets to many types of events!

Two primary venues for Duke Performances include:

Rubenstein Arts Center at Duke University

- This venue serves as a hub for artistic production at Duke University and a new arts venue for the Triangle. Public programs—including performances, film screenings and exhibitions—take place at “The Ruby” which is also home to the programs in Dance, Arts of the Moving Image, and Duke’s student-run radio station (WXDU 88.7 FM)

Baldwin Auditorium

- This 685-seat venue located on Duke’s East Campus is considered one of the premiere small venues for classical music in the Southeast. Baldwin Auditorium serves as the primary stage for classical, acoustic, and other musical performances at Duke.

Duke Chapel

- An iconic part of campus and the Duke community.
- Serves as an interdenominational Christian church and a schedule of services can be found on their website (many still virtual; in-person activities schedule TBD)
- Students (and members of the Duke community) can sign up to spend time in the Chapel through the visitor’s website.
- Evening bells (carillon), and (hopefully) musical performances throughout the year

Nasher Museum of Art

- 65,000-square-foot building that hosts a rotating series of art exhibits that travel worldwide
- Admission is free to Duke University students, staff, and faculty with their Duke ID; $4 for non-Duke students with their student ID.
- Currently closed to visitors for in-person visits; re-opening TBD

The Duke Lemur Center

- “...the world’s largest and most diverse collection of lemurs – Earth’s most threatened group of mammals – outside of Madagascar.”
- Reservations required for visitors

Recreation and Team Athletics

Duke Team Athletics

- NCAA Division I athletics program

- Fall semester sports include football, women’s soccer, men’s basketball, and women’s basketball; spring semester sports include men’s basketball, women’s basketball, men’s lacrosse, women’s lacrosse, men’s baseball, track and field, and women’s softball
- Duke Men’s Basketball (MBB) is the most popular Duke Athletics sport, and watching a game at Cameron Stadium is definitely a strongly recommended experience while at Duke.
- There are several ways to get tickets for a Duke men’s basketball game (all TBD at this point, as policies change each year).

Recreational Intramural Sports and Group Fitness

- Opportunities to form or join teams
- Structured fitness classes and programs

Duke Outdoor Adventures

- Equipment rental
- Recreational/adventure travel planning support
