Health Professions Education Day: Meeting the Unique Needs of Diverse Learners

Co-sponsored by Duke AHEAD, Duke University School of Medicine, Duke University School of Nursing, Duke Office of Graduate Medical Education

Open to all faculty, students, and staff interested in health professions education.

Register at dukeahead.duke.edu

FRIDAY
September 18, 2015
8:45 am – 6 pm, Great Hall, Trent Semans Center

KEYNOTE SPEAKER:
Larry Moneta, EdD
Vice President of Student Affairs Duke University

KEYNOTE
A Healthy Community: Lessons from Four Decades in Higher Education
Larry Moneta, EdD, Vice President of Student Affairs Duke University

Break Out Sessions Topics

Using Emotional Intelligence During Difficult Conversations with Your Students
Maria Orsini, EdD, RN, GRN, VHA-CM

Unconscious Biases: Managing Ourselves in Light of Our Differences
Janel Sexton, PhD

Collaborative Professional Formation: Sharing Values in IPE
Lisa Day, PhD, RN, CNRN, CNE and Janet Hortin, MD

But, you don’t look disabled! Supporting Students with Disabilities under the ADA Amendments Act
Leigh Fickling, Executive Director, JD, MEd, MS Disability Management System

Innovative Use of Simulation for interprofessional Education
Ankeet Udani, MD and Margie Molloy, DNP, RN, CNE, CHSE

Bite-Sized Education Sessions

To Posters and Beyond: Publishing your Educational Scholarship
Colleen Grochowski, PhD and Saumil Chudgar, MD

How Do I...? Educational Technology Resources at Duke
Sharon Kaiser

Navigating Education Research and the IRB
Steve DeMoe, DO and Mitch Heflin, MD

Dissemination of Student Scholarship: Strategies to Make It Count Twice for You and Your Students
Adam Goode, PT, DPT, PhD

Navigating Authorship: A Dynamic and Collaborative Approach on the Road to Scholarship
Deborah Engle, EdD and Shari Whicker, EdD

What the New Duke AHEAD Website Can Do for You
Julie Grundy & Ryn Nasser